

16 State Parks Closed in Southern California

Updated 4 p.m. Monday, October 22, 2007

High winds and smoke resulting from numerous wildfires have forced the temporary closure of 16 state parks in Southern California. The parks were closed as a precaution for visitor safety. Please be advised that fire conditions are subject to change and may impact delivery of services at any of our state parks in Southern California on short notice. For more information about road closures, weather or other conditions that may affect your travel plans information is available online at the Governor's Office of Emergency Services, which is coordinating the state's fire response. Visit:

<http://www.oes.ca.gov/Operational/OESHome.nsf/ALL/876C5DEE11FE66808825737C005B8754?OpenDocument>

Los Angeles County

- Malibu Creek State Park
- Leo Carillo State Park
- Point Mugu State Park
- Topanga State Park
- Will Rogers State Historic Park

Orange County

- San Onofre State Beach
- Crystal Cove's primitive campsites in the back country

Riverside County

- Mount San Jacinto State Park
- San Timoteo Canyon
- Boating closed at Lake Perris

San Bernardino County

- Wildwood Canyon
- Chino Hills State Park
- Silverwood Lake State Recreation Area

San Diego County

- Cuyamaca Rancho State Park
 - Palomar Mountain State Park
 - San Pasqual Battlefield State Historic Park
 - South Carlsbad State Beach
- Voluntary evacuations are in effect.
The park is not open to incoming campers.